

Radia® Partners with Olympic Medical Center to Provide Diagnostic Imaging Services

EVERETT, Wash.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Radia®, Inc. is proud to announce a diagnostic imaging services partnership with Olympic Medical Center commencing on October 1, 2009. Olympic Medical Center, located in Port Angeles, WA, is a comprehensive healthcare center providing services for more than 70,000 residents of Clallam County. The recipient of many awards and achievements, including a Qualis Health No. 1 Ranking, Olympic Medical Center provides local medical expertise for all healthcare needs.

“Our continuous effort to provide the best quality care for our patients led us to this partnership with Radia,” says Eric Lewis, CEO, Olympic Medical Center. “We look forward to working with Radia and increasing our level of service to our referring providers and our patients.”

“I am pleased that Olympic Medical Center has chosen Radia as a diagnostic imaging services partner,” states Rich Satre, M.D., President of Radia. “Radia’s radiology physicians look forward to providing the highest quality patient services possible in tandem with the Olympic Medical Center affiliated physicians and staff.”

The Olympic Medical Center and Radia partnership will provide Clallam County referring physicians and patients subspecialized radiology expertise day and night through teleRadia®, a secure, state-of-the-art teleradiology service wholly owned and operated by Radia.

“Radia’s ability to provide rapid and high-quality diagnostic image interpretations around the clock through our teleRadia® services will allow Olympic Medical Center referring physicians the ability to make quick treatment decisions for all patients,” says Ben Harmon, M.D., CEO of Radia.
